The Whirlpool Duet Dryer, model GEW9250, was released for residential use in 2005. The dryer was designed with audible alerts to inform the user when drying cycles are completed or to indicate that the control pad is locked. Your response to an audible alert should depend on the type of cycle chosen or the items in the dryer when the alert is sounded. Alternatively, turn off the alerts so the dryer no longer beeps. Open the dryer door and rearrange the contents when using the "Bulky Items" cycle. The "Bulky Items" cycle is useful when your load of laundry contains larger items, such as sheets or blankets. Rearranging the load when the dryer beeps during this cycle aids the drying process. Press the "End of Cycle" button on the right side of the control panel until the LED light appears next to "Off." When set to "Louder" or "Softer," the dryer will make a beeping noise to inform you when each cycle is complete. Turn off the control lock by pressing and holding "End of Cycle" until you hear a single tone. If you attempt to press a button while the control lock is activated, the dryer will make a beeping noise. The Drip Cap The Whirlpool Duet Dryer, model GEW9250, was released for residential use in 2005. Alternatively, turn off the alerts so the dryer no longer beeps. When set to "Louder" or "Softer," the dryer will make a beeping noise to inform you when each cycle is complete. We have dryers for a reason. In situations where they are not working correctly, not only will it waste our time but also result in many headaches. Is your Whirlpool Duet dryer suddenly beeping and you do not have any idea why? If this is the case, you may need to troubleshoot or do some minor fixes, especially if the beeping stops your dryer from working properly. The beeping sound in your dryer allows you to be alerted if the cycle is already complete. It can also remind you of other things such as when the cycle was paused or if the drain time is taking longer than expected. Since we are busy with other things in our home, having an alarm system that keeps our clothes in check tremendously helps us in our daily chores. There are many types of beeping. In a Whirlpool Duet, you will also be alerted by a display that gives you a code as to what the problem is. For example, an error code of F:25 indicates that there is a problem with your dryer's temperature sensor. When your Duet dryer keeps beeping three times, this is mainly a problem that is caused by its door. You may also see an error code "0E" with three fast beeps that lets you know about the issue. If this is the case, your dryer may be thinking that its door is still open. Hence, it will usually not start once the beeping sound can still be heard. The reason why your dryer will not start is to practice safety. After all, if the door is not really closed, this means that you can injure yourself if it starts to work and you open the lid or if your children and pets accidentally do so. You may encounter this problem when you start the cycle button of your electric dryer. If this happens regularly, this is not normal, and you should absolutely do something to fix the problem. Fortunately, there are three methods that you can do to stop your dryer from beeping and get it to work normally again. Most of these methods will not cause you to spend a lot of money and will be a fairly fast fix. Before doing anything else, you should always try resetting your dryer. Since doing this is easy and free, you can always take the chance that this may solve the problem. Step 1: Disconnect your dryer from the electrical source To perform a general reset on your dryer, you will need to disconnect it from its power source first. Wait for at least 30 minutes. Step 2: Reconnect your dryer Reconnect your dryer to the power and make sure that it is properly plugged in. Check if there are any damages to your wires and make sure that there are no weird smells once you plugged it in. Step 3: Start a cycle Close the door of your dryer and start a normal drying cycle. You can do this by pressing the start button once or three times. Step 4: Wait for the beeping or error code Stay near your dryer and wait for the cycle to finish. Once it has no trouble with starting, drying, and completing the cycle and if the beeping stops, the reset may be successful. If this is the case, there is no need to proceed to the next method. In some cases, the reason why your dryer beeps is that the door switch's pins may be a little faulty. There are three pins on your switch - the C, NC, and NO. If one or more of them detects slowly, this can cause the beeping sound. In this situation, you can try to take extra measures to secure the locks and make your sensor detect that your door is indeed closed. Step 1 Close the door of your dryer as usual. Step 2 Using the lower part of your palm, firmly press on the top edge of your dryer's door. You can do this multiple times until you are sure that every pin is in place. Since it can be difficult to know this, the step needs a little trial and error. Step 3 Start the drying cycle. If you already tried the two methods above and the beeping sound is still there, the only thing you can do is to have your door switch replaced. Since the method is quite complex, we recommend in hiring a professional to fix the issue, especially if you still have your warranty. Of course, you can always be sure that your switch is the problem before hiring a technician. You can do this by getting a multimeter and checking each of the three prongs for continuity. If one or more is faulty, replacing the door switch will stop the beeping and will let you use your dryer again. Model Number WED9400VE0 Brand Whirlpool Age 1-5 years Hey Guys, My dryer is beeping during cycle. Its mostly when using the bulky items mode, drying sheets and blankets. Seems to beep continuously for a few minutes and then stop. Comes and goes but seems to be happening more frequently lately. Other than the beeping, things seem to be working normally... Any suggestions as to how to troubleshoot this? Thanks, Bryan Last edited by a moderator: Mar 3, 2015 Hi Bryan, You posted just the partial model number, we would need the complete model number to assist you. Its a WED9400VE0 Thanks. Bryan Thanks Bryan, Do you have the Damp Dry Signal turned OFF? I have the same dryer as you and mine was doing the same in Bulky Items mode. So now when I use Bulky Items mode I manually set the Damp Dry Signal to OFF, because in Bulky Items mode its ON by default. Since I started doing that on mine I never hear it beeping anymore. See your Owner's Manual for any tones your model may have. There are two types of tones available for use on some dryers: End Beep and Damp Beep. Use this to turn the signal indicating the end of a drying cycle Some models also have options to set the end beep to low, medium, high or off. NOTE: You may also turn off the tones that sound when a feature, setting or option is touched. Touch and hold End Beep or Cycle Signal for about three seconds to turn sounds to low, medium, high or off. Touch to select the Damp Beep signal. You may adjust the signal to low, medium, high or off. When selected, a series of beeps will sound when the load is damp, but not completely dry. This will allow you to take clothes out of the load that do not want to dry completely. This option is not available on all cycles. The Damp Beep signal is selected as a default for the Bulky/Sheets cycle, as a reminder to manually reposition bulky loads midway through the cycle.
